

Resident Discipleship Program (RDP)

This is an interdenominational gathering of local residents in different locations around the nations, cities, towns, and villages (where we have resident disciplers) who are interested in going through Discipleship Training Programme.

They meet regularly and corporately to go through a designed curriculum of instructions. These instructions are cumulative, and individual progress is measured not by brilliant knowledge or written examination but by the extent of behavioral changes brought about by the sincere obedience to the instructions.

The mode of instruction is through group Bible studies, teachings, (including retreats, seminars, audio/video) and personal counseling. The regularity and days of meeting for the program is peculiar to each locality and is determined corporately by the members of the discipleship classes themselves. All discipleship classes are run in such a way as to avoid clashes with local church programs.

Participants are free to come from any church background, once they are able to ascertain regular, uninterrupted attendance. But they are however not allowed to move away from their local churches, while they are going through the discipleship program. They are encouraged to get back into their churches, to also raise other disciples for the LORD. And where the leadership of a church so desires, Church based discipleship classes can also be arranged.

This program runs in English and other local languages wherever necessary. Enrollment is free, and by an application form through the local discipleship centre coordinators. Write in to the discipleship department for a detailed brochure and the particulars of the discipleship centers nearest your locality.

The Discipleship classes are run by the various Revival labours within tribes, ethnic groups, towns and cities. You will be directed particularly on the discipleship classes from the contacts provided about our Liaison Offices.

Students' Discipleship Program through Tapes (STUDDIPTT)

This is a discipleship programme for students in the tertiary institutions. Participation is opened only to groups rather than individuals, since our intention is to work with and help build existing interdenominational fellowships on campus and not to create another.

A group may adopt this discipleship programme as part of her weekly or monthly programme. Coordinators are to be appointed by the leadership of the local groups but ratified by the Peace House discipleship department (STUDIP-TT). Where whole fellowship groups are not willing to adopt STUDIP-TT but some individuals have indicated interest from different fellowship groups within a campus, such interested students can be arranged together to go through the programme at a time and venue agreed to by all. It will run in such a manner as to allow the participatory students not to abandon their responsibilities to their mother groups. A local co-ordinator shall also be appointed from among them to report directly to our STUDIP-TT coordinator.

When it can be arranged, a combined meeting of all the participating groups within the campus or locality will be called, to afford them a direct contact with the teachers. The meeting shall be in form of a retreat where issues of the kingdom are taught and practical questions answered by the grace of God.
